Mitsu geta were worn by oiran in late Edo Japan (1603 - 1868). Part of an oiran's allure was her sumptuous clothing which was displayed by walking slowly in a highly stylized manner. Contemporary versions of mitsu geta are worn for annual re-enactments of these processions which are celebrated each April.

Christian Louboutin was inspired by the dramatic horned headdress worn by the character Maleficent in the 2014 Disney film. The design was first worn by the film's star Angelina Jolie for press events and then ninety-six pairs were made available to the public, including this pair.
